Introduction

The Government of Canada and the Government of Saskatchewan work together to provide student financial assistance (referred to as “assistance”) in Saskatchewan. Loans, grants, and bursaries are available to help full- and part-time students access and afford post-secondary education. This handbook provides Saskatchewan students with information on applying for assistance for the 2016-17 loan year (August 1, 2016 to July 31, 2017).

Assistance is meant to supplement, not replace, other resources to pay for post-secondary education. You may want to look at other options to keep your costs down such as:

- Summer employment;
- Internship or co-op programs offered for your program of study;
- Grants, bursaries and scholarships;
- Savings; and
- Funding from parents, relatives or other sources.

Eligibility Criteria

You are eligible to apply for full-time assistance in Saskatchewan if:

- You are a Saskatchewan resident, as defined by the program;
- You are a Canadian citizen, permanent resident or a protected person;
- You have financial need according to program criteria;
- You are enrolled or qualified to enrol as a full-time post-secondary student at a designated school in an approved program which is at least 12 weeks in length and leads to a degree, diploma or certificate. If your program has a period or periods of study of 6-11 weeks, you may be eligible if the shorter periods of study are part of a longer program;
- You will be taking at least 60 per cent of a full course load, or 40 per cent if you are a student with a permanent disability;
- Your previous student loans are in good standing (i.e., you must not have defaulted on a previous student loan);
- You pass a credit check if you are 22 years of age or older and applying for assistance for the first time; and
- You have not exhausted the lifetime maximum assistance limit.

Check with your school to ensure it is designated for the purposes of student loans or visit www.canada.ca/student-financial-assistance for a list of designated educational institutions. Your school must be designated in order for you to receive funding. If you have questions regarding a school’s designation, please contact the Student Service Centre.

Residency

If you have lived in Saskatchewan for at least 12 consecutive months before the first day of your study period (excluding time spent as a full-time student in a post-secondary education program) you are considered a Saskatchewan resident.

Student Categories

When you apply for full-time assistance, you will be classified as belonging to one of the following four categories. This category will help to determine how your financial need is calculated:

A Single Dependent Student:

- Has no children; and
- Has been out of high school for less than four years before the first day of class of the current study period; or
- Has been in the work force for less than two years (two periods of 12 consecutive months) before the first day of class of the current study period.

A Single Independent Student:

- Has no children; and
- Has been out of high school for four years or more before the first day of class of the current study period; or
- Has been in the workforce for at least two years (two periods of 12 consecutive months) before the first day of class of the current study period.

A Married Student:

- Is legally married; or
- Is in a common-law relationship (i.e., living with the person you are in a relationship with for a minimum of 12 consecutive months before the first day of class of the current study period).

A Single Parent Student:

- Has custody of one or more children at least 50 percent of the time; and
- Is not married or common-law.

Assistance and Benefits

Post-secondary education is a worthwhile investment but it is also a serious commitment. Being financially prepared means knowing how much your education will cost and making decisions about how you will meet your financial needs. When planning for your education, you should consider tuition costs, text books and learning materials, as well as transportation and living costs while in school.

The amount of assistance you can receive, including any grants and bursaries, depends on your situation. The assessment letter you receive after applying for assistance will outline your eligibility for both provincial and federal assistance.

There is a lifetime maximum limit. If you are eligible, you can receive up to 340 weeks of assistance (including interest-free status), and up to 400 weeks if you are a student in doctoral studies. Students with permanent disabilities can receive up to 520 weeks of assistance.

Grants are available to students from low- and middle-income families, students with permanent disabilities and students with dependants. Grants do not need to be paid back, and students may be eligible to receive more than one grant at a time.

All Saskatchewan assistance is provided first as a loan. Any provincial grants and/or bursaries will be automatically applied to your loan at the end of the study period, reducing the amount you will pay back. Any Canada Student Grants that you are eligible to receive will be paid to you at the beginning and middle of your study period.

The Saskatchewan Student Bursary is available to low- and middle-income students enrolled in full-time post- secondary studies in undergraduate or lower-level programs. This bursary reduces the repayable amount by up to $140 per week of study. Graduate and medical students are not eligible for this bursary.

Maximum Weekly Levels of Assistance

Low-income Students	Canada Student Grant	Canada Student Loan	Saskatchewan Student Grant	Saskatchewan Student Loan	Total/ Weekly Assistance
Students in one-year programs	$0	$210	$58	$140	$408

Additional Assistance for Students

Low-Income Students with Dependants	Canada Student Grant	Saskatchewan Student Grant
Dependants under 12 years old (or over 12 with a permanent disability), per week	$47 per child	$0
Dependants between 12 and 18 years old, per week	$0	$47 per child
Students with Permanent Disabilities	Canada Student Grant	Saskatchewan Student Grant
Canada Grant for Students with Permanent Disabilities	$2,000 per year
Canada-Saskatchewan Grant for Services and Equipment for Students with Permanent Disabilities	Up to $8,000 per year	Up to $2,000 per year

Canada and Saskatchewan Student Grants

When you apply for a Canada-Saskatchewan Integrated Student Loan, you will be automatically considered for student grants from both the Government of Canada and the Government of Saskatchewan. Grant amounts are calculated based on your number of weeks of study. A separate application is only required for the Canada-Saskatchewan Grant for Services and Equipment for Students with Permanent Disabilities.

If you meet the grant eligibility requirements you may be eligible to receive one or more of the following student grants:

Canada Student Grant for Students from Low-Income Families

This grant provides about $375 per month of study ($87 per week) to low-income students enrolled in a university undergraduate or college program that is at least two years (60 weeks) in duration.

Saskatchewan Student Grant for Students from Low-Income Families

This grant provides about $250 per month of study ($58 per week) to low-income students enrolled in one year programs below the undergraduate level and to students enrolled in graduate and post-graduate programs.

Canada Student Grant for Students from Middle-Income Families

This grant provides about $150 per month of study ($35 per week of study) to middle-income students enrolled in a university undergraduate or college program that is at least two years (60 weeks) in duration.

Saskatchewan Student Grant for Students from Middle-Income Families

This grant provides about $100 per month of study ($23 per week) to middle-income students enrolled in one year programs below the undergraduate level and to students enrolled in graduate and post-graduate programs .

The eligibility thresholds for the low- and middle-income grants are adjusted annually to reflect the cost of living in each province and territory for different family sizes.

Thresholds (for pre-tax incomes) for Saskatchewan Students

Low-Income		Middle Income
One person	$21,512	One person	$38,166
Two persons	$26,781	Two persons	$53,433
Three persons	$32,924	Three persons	$66,926
Four persons	$39,975	Four persons	$76,492
Five persons	$45,338	Five persons	$83,912
Six persons	$51,134	Six persons	$89,982
Seven persons	$56,929	Seven persons	$95,108

Canada Student Grant for Students with Dependants

This grant provides about $200 per month of study per child ($47 per week of study per child) to low-income students with dependent children under 12 years of age, or over 12 years of age or over with a permanent disability.

Saskatchewan Student Grant for Students with Dependants

This grant provides about $200 per month of study per child ($47 per week of study per child) to low-income students with dependent children between the ages of 12 and 18.

Saskatchewan Student Bursary

This bursary is available to students (except graduate students, medical students and students who are above middle-income) whose student loan assistance exceeds $210 per week of study. The maximum bursary amount is $140 per week of study.

Grants for Students with Permanent Disabilities

If you are a student with a permanent disability that restricts your physical or mental ability to perform daily activities necessary to participate fully in post-secondary studies or the work force, you may be eligible for additional assistance.

To be considered for the grants listed below, you must apply and qualify for a student loan (either a full-time or part-time loan) and supply documentation verifying your permanent disability. You may also be eligible to receive full-time assistance while studying between 40 and 59 percent of a full course load.

Canada Grant for Students with Permanent Disabilities

This grant provides $2,000 per year to help cover living expenses, tuition, and books. Eligibility for this grant is determined when you apply for assistance. A separate application form is not required.

Canada-Saskatchewan Grant for Services and Equipment for Students with Permanent Disabilities

This grant provides up to $8,000 per year for exceptional education-related costs such as tutors, note-takers, interpreters, brailers or technical aids. If your need exceeds the amount available from the Canada Student Grant for Services and Equipment for Students with Permanent Disabilities, the Saskatchewan Student Grant for Services and Equipment for Students with Permanent Disabilities may provide up to $2,000 in additional assistance.

A separate application is required for this grant. Contact the Student Service Centre for an application or print the form at saskatchewan.ca/studentloans.

Applying for Full-Time Student Financial Assistance

Note: Applications and any changes must be received 14 business days before your program end date to allow time for processing.

How Assistance is Calculated

Financial need is the amount you require to help you meet your financial commitments.

The formula to calculate the amount of assistance you will receive is as follows:

$$\text{Your Allowable Expenses} - \text{Your Expected Contributions} = \text{Your Financial Need}$$

Example Scenarios

- A student attending a full-time college or university program can expect to pay between $5,000 and $8,700 per year in tuition. Living expenses will vary depending on if you live at home with your parents and/or spouse or relocate to complete your education.
- If you are a single student and live at home while studying, your total expenses should be about $7,000 to $10,000, depending on your program of study. If you are single and live away from home, you can expect your expenses to be $11,000 to $15,000. If you have dependent children, the cost will be higher.

Tip!

www.canada.ca/student-financial-assistance offers a variety of online tools to help you determine education costs and budget your finances.

Allowable Expenses

Your assistance covers the following allowable expenses:

Educational Expenses

Allowable educational expenses include the actual costs of tuition and compulsory fees. Books and supplies will be allowed as an expense up to a maximum of $3,000.

Living Allowance

Your living allowance provides money for shelter, food, miscellaneous items and local public transportation. If you are a single student living away from home, the shelter allowance is based on the expectation that you will share accommodations. Your living allowance is determined by your student category, family size, and province where you are studying. The allowance is a standard allowance for a moderate standard of living based on Statistics Canada's Family Expenditure Survey.

Saskatchewan Monthly Living Allowances
Student Category	Approximate monthly living allowance
Single student living at home	$503
Single student living away from home	$1,168
Married student and spouse with child(ren)	$2,276 + $522 for each child
Single parent with child(ren)	$1,583 + $522 for each child

Note: These allowances are used to calculate your financial need. They are not the monthly amount you may receive.

As a single student or a married student living in a different community than the family home (your parents or spouse), an allowance will also be included for one return trip home for each period of 16 weeks, to a maximum of $600 per trip.

Child Care Allowance

If you have dependent children under 12 years of age and you require full-time child care, the allowable expense will be based on whether or not your child care costs are subsidized. A $20 per day incidental rate, up to the maximums outlined below, may be allowed upon a written request for review.

Saskatchewan Monthly Child Care Allowances
Number of Children	Subsidized	Unsubsidized	Incidental Maximum
1	$85	$400	$200
2	$170	$540	$270
3	$255	$680	$340
4 or more	$340	$820	$410

Child Support and/or Alimony

If you or your spouse are making child support and/or alimony payments, you can claim this expense up to a maximum amount of $508 per child per month.

Expected Contributions

When you are assessed for assistance, your income and financial assets are taken into consideration in the calculation. You and your family are expected to contribute to the cost of your education. These contributions are used to determine how much assistance you are eligible to receive.

Pre-Study Period Income

The pre-study period is usually the four-month period immediately before you begin your classes. If you are a full-time student during that four-month period, the pre-study period is reduced to the time between the last date of your previous study period and the beginning of your current study period.

For example:

- Your classes start at the beginning of September and you were in school as a full-time student until the end of April. Your pre-study period is from May 1 to September 1.
- Your classes start at the beginning of September and you were not in school as a full-time student. Your pre-study period is from May 1 to September 1.
- Your classes start at the beginning of September and you were in school as a full-time student until the end of June. Your pre-study period is from July 1 to September 1.

Assistance is meant to supplement, not replace, other resources to pay for post-secondary education. You (and your spouse, if applicable) are expected to work during your pre-study period, and to save money for your education. This funding is used when calculating your eligibility for assistance.

The minimum amount you are expected to save for your education is based on full-time employment at minimum wage less standard deductions for income tax, Canada Pension Plan, Employment Insurance and a monthly living allowance. Full-time employment in Saskatchewan is 29.1 hours per week.

The minimum pre-study period contribution may be waived or reduced if you or your spouse are unable to find employment or are unable to work for medical reasons. You will be required to submit documentation verifying your situation.

If you (and your spouse, if applicable) earn more than minimum wage, you will be expected to contribute 80 percent of the amount you earn, after allowing for standard deductions for income tax, Canada Pension Plan, Employment Insurance and a monthly living allowance.

Your pre-study period income may be verified and you may be required to submit pay stubs. A reassessment of the application is done, which may result in a change in funding if the pre-study period estimate is not equal to the actual income you earned.

Pre-Study Period Contribution
Student category	Minimum contribution for a four-month pre-study period
Single student living at home	$2,914
Single student living away from home	$226
Married student and spouse with child(ren)	$643 $0
Single parent with child(ren)	$0

Study Period Income

You are also expected to contribute a portion of your income during your study period.

For some types of income, you will be expected to contribute 100 percent of your net income after deducting a $100 per week exemption (i.e., income from rental property, investment interest and/or dividends, alimony, child support, etc.).

Merit-based scholarship and bursary awards of up to $1,800 per study period will not be considered as study period income.

You are expected to contribute 100 percent of any income you receive specifically to attend school, such as assistance from a government or private-sector agency .

If you are married or in a common-law relationship, your spouse is expected to work and contribute 70 percent of his or her income during your study period, after standard deductions for income tax, Canada Pension Plan, Employment Insurance and a moderate standard of living. In Saskatchewan, the monthly minimum contribution expected from your spouse is $1,211 for the 2016-17 loan year.

The minimum study period contribution from your spouse may be waived or reduced if your spouse cannot find employment or is unable to work for medical reasons. You will be required to submit documentation verifying your spouse's situation.

Expected Parental Contribution

If you are a single dependent student, your parents are expected to contribute towards your education, based on their discretionary income. Discretionary income is their combined income in the last complete taxation year, after deductions for income tax, Canada Pension Plan, Employment Insurance and a moderate standard of living, based on family size. Parents, their dependent children (including the student applying for assistance) and any dependants living in the household are all included to determine family size.

Completing the Parental Section of the application does not mean your parents are co-signing your student loans. You, as the applicant, are solely responsible for repaying your student loans.

Use the charts below or the Parental Contribution Calculator on www.canada.ca/student-financial-assistance to estimate your parents' contribution.

To calculate parental net income, refer to the parental contribution example below. Subtract a moderate standard of living (MSOL) expense to determine discretionary income.

A Parental Contribution Example
Parent 1		Parent 2
$30,000	Gross Income (line 150 of tax return)	$50,000
$1,169	Less CPP (line 308 of tax return)	$1,744
$514	Less EI (line 312 of tax return)	$670
$ 1,629	Less taxes payable (line 435 of tax return)	$ 6,551
$26,688	Net income	$41,035
Combined net income		$67,723
Less Moderate Standard of Living (family size of 4)		$59,833
Discretionary income		$7,890
Parental contribution per week of study.		$24
For an 8-month (34 week) course, the parental contribution would be $816

The Moderate Standard of Living (MSOL) is based on Statistics Canada's Family Expenditure Survey.

Family Size	Saskatchewan	Family Size	Saskatchewan
2	$41,796	7	$74,397
3	$52,350	8	$77,870
4	$59,833	9	$80,934
5	$65,640	10	$83,676
6	$70,387

Your parents' discretionary income is then applied to the Parental Contribution Table.

Weekly Parental Contribution Table
Annual discretionary income	Weekly parental contribution	Annual discretionary income	Weekly parental contribution	Annual discretionary income	Weekly parental contribution

If your parents have two or more dependent children studying in full-time post-secondary education, the parental contribution is divided accordingly.

If you are a single dependent student, and your parents set up a Registered Education Savings Plan (RESP) or a scholarship trust fund for you, the expected parental contribution will be the greater of:

- The assessed parental contribution; or
- The contribution withdrawn from the RESP or trust fund.

Assets

Your financial assets, including savings (and those of your spouse, if applicable) are considered in determining your financial need. If they were in your possession during the pre-study or in-study periods, they will be used in the calculation of your assistance. You must advise the Student Service Centre if you acquire or sell any financial investments during your pre-study or study periods. This will result in a reassessment of your application.

The full value of these assets is considered an expected contribution after you receive an exemption for RRSPs. There is no exemption applied to other financial investments. Your home, vehicle and other property you own are not considered. Parental assets are not considered.

Registered Retirement Savings Plans (RRSPs)

When calculating the value of your assets, a $2,000 exemption is allowed on the current market value of your RRSPs for each year you have been out of high school. If you are married or common-law, a $2,000 exemption is also allowed for each year your spouse has been out of high school.

Example of RESP Contributions

Lindsay's parents are expected to contribute $544 towards her education for her current study period. They withdraw $600 of RESP contributions for Lindsay's education costs. Only the $600 RESP contributions will be used in the calculation and will be considered the parental contribution for assistance purposes.

Student Financial Assistance for Part-Time Studies

Canada Student Loans for Part-Time Studies

The Government of Canada offers loans and grants for part-time studies to students taking between 20 and 59 per cent of a full course load.

As a part-time student you may be eligible to borrow up to $10,000 in Canada Student Loans. Interest does not accrue on part-time loans if you confirm your enrolment while in studies. You do not have to begin repaying your loan until six (6) months after you graduate or leave school; however, interest will accrue during those six months.

There is no maximum length of assistance for part-time students. However, the maximum loan amount at any time cannot exceed $10,000. Loan applications for part-time students are available from the Student Service Centre or online at saskatchewan.ca/studentloans. Visit www.canada.ca/student-financial-assistance for more information on financial assistance for part-time students.

You may be eligible for a Canada Student Loan for Part-Time Studies if you:

- Are from a low- or middle-income family as defined by the Canada Student Loans Program;
- Are enrolled in 20 to 59 per cent of a full course load (if you are a student with a permanent disability, and you are taking 40 to 59 per cent of a full course load, you can choose to be considered full- or part-time);
- Are enrolled in a degree, diploma, or certificate program (minimum 12 weeks within a 15-week period) at a designated post-secondary institution;
- Successfully complete all courses for which funding was provided; and
- Pass a credit check if you are 22 or older and applying for a Canada Student Loan and Grant for the first time.

Canada/Saskatchewan Student Grant for Part-Time Studies

Part-time students with low incomes who qualify for a Canada Student Loan and meet the grant eligibility requirements may be eligible for a federal student grant of up to $1,800 and a provincial student grant of up to $800 per academic year.

Canada Student Grant for Part-Time Students with Dependents

Part-time students with low incomes and up to two children under 12 years of age (or 12 years or older with a permanent disability) may be eligible for $40 per week of study, up to a maximum of $1,920, and those part-time students with three or more children may be eligible for $60 per week of study up to a maximum of $1,920.

Receiving Your Funds

The National Student Loans Service Centre (NSLSC) administers your loan on behalf of the Government of Canada and the Government of Saskatchewan.

Your First Student Loan Application

Once your application has been assessed, first-time applicants will receive an information package including:

- Your Master Student Financial Assistance Agreement (MSFAA);
- Instructions on how to get your Canada-Saskatchewan Integrated Student Loan; and
- An Assessment Letter with information on the amount of your assistance including the payment schedule of your student loan and grants.

As soon as you receive your MSFAA, sign it and take it, along with valid government identification and your Social Insurance Number (SIN), to:

- The Student Service Centre located in Regina;
- A designated Canada Post outlet; or
- If studying outside Canada, or if you cannot access a designated Canada Post outlet, mail your documents along with copies of your government-issued identification to the National Student Loans Service Centre.

Valid government photo identification includes:

- Driver's license;
- Passport;
- Provincial health card with a photo; or
- Permanent residency or citizenship card.

Valid Social Insurance Number (SIN) documentation includes:

- SIN card/letter;
- Canada Revenue Agency Notice of Assessment;
- Canada Pension Plan Statement of Contributions; or
- SIN confirmation from Service Canada.

The NSLSC will confirm your enrolment electronically with your school. If your school does not confirm enrolment electronically, the NSLSC will mail the confirmation of enrolment form to you or your school and the school will return it to the NSLSC.

Once your enrolment is confirmed, the NSLSC will electronically deposit funds into the bank account that you provided on the MSFAA. Funds will be deposited as outlined in the disbursement schedule in your assessment letter or directly to your school to cover your academic fees.

Tip!

Visit www.canada.ca/student-financial-assistance to find a designated Canada Post outlet near you.

Maintaining Your Eligibility While in School

Your Responsibilities

After you have obtained your funds and are attending classes, you must do the following to keep your interest-free status and stay eligible for future funding:

- Continue to be enrolled in 60 per cent or more of a full course load each semester (40 per cent for students with a permanent disability). Your school determines what a full course load is for each term or semester of each study period;
- Achieve successful completion; and
- Maintain regular attendance at all times. If your attendance drops below 90 per cent or you miss more than three consecutive weeks (21 calendar days), you will be considered discontinued for student loan purposes. Your study period will be considered unsuccessful.

You may be considered discontinued if you drop below the minimum required course load for the following reasons:

- You withdraw from studies on your own accord;
- You change schools during your study period; or
- You are expelled before the end of your study period.

It is your responsibility to contact the school regarding possible tuition refunds.

One discontinuation	Receives a warning but remains eligible for assistance.
Two discontinuations	Lose eligibility for assistance for 12 months.
Three discontinuations	Lose eligibility for assistance for a minimum of 36 months.

During these periods of ineligibility you must maintain your student loans in good standing to regain future eligibility.

- You must complete your studies within the required eligibility periods. For each level of study, you are eligible for assistance for the normal duration of the program plus one additional year. Students with permanent disabilities are exempt from this criteria.
- You must not exceed the lifetime maximum of 340 weeks of study. The lifetime maximum may be extended up to an additional 60 weeks (to a maximum of 400 weeks) for full-time students enrolled in doctoral studies. Students with permanent disabilities may receive assistance for up to 520 weeks.

Important!

If you withdraw during your first semester or term and plan to attend full-time in the second semester or term, you must submit a new application to the Student Service Centre.

Important!

The lifetime maximum for assistance includes the weeks you received student loans and any weeks you did not receive student loans but were in interest-free status.

Keeping Government Student Loans Interest-Free

Whether you take out a new student loan for upcoming studies or not, your existing loan holder(s) need to know that you are still in school. If not, you will lose the interest-free status on your existing loans and you will have to start repaying loans earlier than expected.

All your lenders must receive Confirmation of Enrolment information, completed by your post-secondary institution. This proves you have registered for upcoming studies.

If you are taking out a new loan, your school will provide Confirmation of Enrolment as part of the process for full-time students. If you are not taking out a new loan, you must provide Confirmation of Enrolment (Schedule 2) which is available through your NSLSC borrower account or at www.canada.ca/student-financial-assistance.

Repaying Your Student Loan

Consolidating Your Loan

Six months after you have completed full-time study, whether you have graduated, transferred to part-time studies, withdrawn, or you are taking time off from your studies, you will need to begin repaying your student loan. This is called student loan consolidation.

Prior to your loan(s) entering the repayment phase, the National Student Loans Service Centre will send you a Consolidation Letter. It outlines your repayment terms and your minimum monthly payment. You also can negotiate your monthly payment amounts with the National Student Loans Service Centre, pay in lump sum or pay out your loan early. Contact the National Student Loans Service Centre if you have not received your repayment information one month before your loans consolidate.

Even though you are not required to make a payment for six months after completing your studies, interest will accumulate during this time. Any unpaid interest accumulated during this six-month period will be capitalized and included in your principal balance at the time of consolidation. Your first loan payment is due:

- On the last day of the seventh month following the date your period of study ends; or
- The end date you withdraw from studies.

Example

- Period of Study End Date: April 30, 2016
- Date six-month non-repayment period begins (interest starts to accrue): May 1, 2016
- Date six-month non-repayment period ends: October 31, 2016
- First loan payment due date: November 30, 2016

Interest on Canada Student Loans

- Fixed Interest Rate (Prime¹ plus 5 per cent) or
- Floating Interest Rate (Prime plus 2.5 per cent).

Interest on Saskatchewan Student Loans

- Fixed Interest Rate (Prime plus 2.5 per cent) or
- Floating Interest Rate (Prime).

Your loans will be automatically consolidated with the floating rate of interest. You will have a one-time option of switching to the fixed rate of interest during your repayment period.

¹ Prime is defined by the Canada Student Loans Program in accordance with The Canada Student Loans Act or The Canada Student Financial Assistance Act.

To compare different repayment options, visit www.canada.ca/student-financial-assistance to check out the Loan Repayment Estimator.

If you received a Canada Student Loan before August 1, 2000, and/or a Saskatchewan Student Loan before August 1, 2001, you must also sign a Consolidation Agreement for each loan with the financial institution(s) holding these loans.

You must contact your financial institution(s) and sign a loan Consolidation Agreement within six months of completing your full-time studies. In some instances, you may have two or more separate monthly loan payments.

Date you received your student loan	Canada Student Loans	Saskatchewan Student Loans
On or After August 1, 2001	Contact the National Student Loans Service Centre	Contact the National Student Loans Service Centre
August 1, 2000 to July 31, 2001	Contact the National Student Loans Service Centre	Contact the Royal Bank of Canada

The National Student Loans Service Centre offers online services to keep track of the activity on your student loan account as well as update your personal information. Go to www.canada.ca/student-financial-assistance to register.

Maintaining Your Loan While in Repayment

As a borrower, you are required to fulfill your obligations and responsibilities of the repayment terms and conditions of your loan. Missing payments could damage your credit rating, and your student loan could go into default. Contact the National Student Loans Service Centre before you miss a payment. There are repayment options available to help you manage your payments and avoid defaulting on your loan.

Defaulting on your loan will affect your credit score and in turn, your ability to purchase something as simple as buying a new cell phone!

Visit www.canada.ca/student-financial-assistance to find out more about repayment assistance and how to manage your student loan debt.

Interest on Loan Payments

Once you are in repayment, any interest you pay may be claimed on your income tax return. For each year you are in repayment, you will receive a tax form indicating the amount of interest paid during that tax year from the National Student Loans Service Centre (or your financial institution if you have a loan prior to 2001).

Repayment Assistance Plan (RAP)

The Repayment Assistance Plan (RAP) makes it easier for you to manage your debt. You can pay back what you can reasonably afford, based on your family income and family size. Monthly payments are limited to 20 per cent or less of a borrower's gross family income. No borrower on RAP will have a repayment period of more than 15 years, or 10 years for borrowers with permanent disabilities. If borrowers earn very little income, they may not be required to make loan payments until their income increases. To apply, complete the online application through your account with the National Student Loans Service Centre.

Repayment Assistance Plan – Permanent Disability (RAP-PD)

The Repayment Assistance Plan for Borrowers with a Permanent Disability (RAP- PD) is available to borrowers with a permanent disability who are having difficulty repaying their student loan debt. RAP-PD makes it easier for you to manage your student debt and will consider additional medical expenses related to your disability. You can pay back what you can reasonably afford based on your family income and family size. Monthly payments are limited to 20 per cent or less of a borrower's gross family income and no borrower will have a repayment period of more than 10 years. If borrowers earn very little income, they may not be required to make any loan payments until their income increases. To apply, complete the online application and Permanent Disability Expense form through your account with the National Student Loans Service Centre.

Note: If you are a student with a severe permanent disability who is prevented from working and going to school and who will never be able to repay your loans, you may benefit from having your loans immediately cancelled under the Severe Permanent Disability Benefit. For more information, please visit www.canada.ca/student-financial-assistance or call the National Student Loans Service Centre.

Revision of Terms

You may ask the National Student Loans Service Centre about reducing your monthly payment amount by extending the length of time you take to repay your loan. This will lower your monthly payments, but you will pay more interest over time. Contact the National Student Loans Service Centre for more information.

Loan Forgiveness for Nurses and Nurse Practitioners

The Saskatchewan Student Loan Forgiveness for Nurses and Nurse Practitioners program encourages nurses and nurse practitioners to work in smaller communities. As a nurse or nurse practitioner, you could receive up to $4,000 per year in Saskatchewan Student Loan forgiveness to a maximum of $20,000 over five years. Please visit saskatchewan.ca/studentloans for more information.

You may also be eligible for federal loan forgiveness on your Canada student loans. The Canada Student Loans Program offers federal loan forgiveness for nurses and nurse practitioners, as well as family doctors and family medicine residents, serving in rural and remote communities. Please visit www.canada.ca/student-financial-assistance for more information.

Bankruptcy and Overpayments

Bankruptcy

Are you a student loan borrower who:

- Has filed for bankruptcy?
- Has filed a consumer proposal?
- Is participating in a provincial arrangement for the orderly payment of debts?

If so, contact the Student Service Centre at 1-800-597-8278 for more information on student loan eligibility.

Overpayments

An overpayment is assistance you received for which you are not eligible. An overpayment can occur if your application is reassessed due to a change in your circumstances.

For example, if you discontinued studies during a study period, if your income changed, or if an audit of your application uncovered inaccurate information, the Student Service Centre may determine that you have been overpaid.

Overpayment amounts are deducted from future assistance awarded under the program. It is your responsibility to contact your school to ensure possible tuition refunds have been processed. This may reduce the amount of your outstanding overpayment.

Note: Students can appeal the grant to loan conversion on the grounds that the withdrawal or change to part-or full-time status was the result of unforeseen and unavoidable circumstances or if the educational institution made an error in reporting the withdrawal from full-time studies. Supporting documentation will be required. Appeals must be made within six months of the date the conversion occurred.

Falsified Information

The Canada-Saskatchewan Integrated Student Loans Program is dedicated to providing assistance to support students seeking post-secondary education under the terms of federal and provincial student loan legislation and policy.

It is an offence under The Canada Student Financial Assistance Act and The Saskatchewan Student Assistance and Student Aid Fund Act, 1985 to knowingly give false or misleading information on your application or other forms. Offences may also be punishable under the Criminal Code of Canada. All of the information submitted on your application is subject to audit and verification.

If it is determined that an individual knowingly committed fraud or misrepresentation, the Canada Student Loans Program may apply administrative measures and possibly require the individual to immediately repay loans or grants received through misrepresentation (as per section 17.1(1) of The Canada Student Financial Assistance Act (CSFAA) and section 18.1(1) of The Canada Student Loans Act (CSLA)). Administrative measures specifically refer to the individual being restricted from student financial assistance (SFA), such as loans, grants, repayment assistance and in-study interest-free status, for a period of one to five years.

If you know of someone providing false information while receiving a financial benefit, please contact Audit Services, who are responsible for investigating allegations of improper funding. Allegations are serious and all contacts will be investigated. We assure you that you will remain anonymous.

Student Financial Assistance Scholarships

The Ministry of Advanced Education administers scholarships for students who are entering post-secondary education and individuals in graduate studies. Visit the Scholarships, Bursaries, and Grants page at saskatchewan.ca for more information or an application for the scholarships below.

Federal-Provincial Bursaries for Students in French

The Federal-Provincial Fellowship bursary is designed to encourage Saskatchewan students to study in French in Saskatchewan or at an out-of-province post-secondary institution when program of study is not offered in Saskatchewan.

Saskatchewan Advantage Scholarship

The Saskatchewan Advantage Scholarship provides every Saskatchewan grade 12 graduate (2012 and after) who enrolls at a Saskatchewan post-secondary institution with up to $500 per year to a maximum of $2,000. Your school applies for this scholarship on your behalf. A separate application form is not required.

Scholarship of Honour

The Saskatchewan Scholarship of Honour recognizes Saskatchewan men and women who have served in a military operation since January 2001, and the families of Canadian Forces members who have been injured or died in a military operation since January 2001. Eligible individuals will receive a $5,000 scholarship to assist with post-secondary education expenses.

Queen Elizabeth II Scholarship

This $20,000 scholarship is awarded annually, to support graduate or post-graduate study of Saskatchewan politics and government at either of Saskatchewan's universities. The scholarship is awarded on the basis of academic excellence to one student or split equally between deserving candidates.

Queen Elizabeth II Centennial Aboriginal Scholarship

This $20,000 scholarship is to be awarded annually to First Nations and Métis students who are pursuing graduate studies in any field at any accredited university in Saskatchewan. Students must have graduated from a university in Saskatchewan. Preference will be given to students who have attended or received an undergraduate degree from the First Nations University of Canada. The scholarship is awarded on the basis of academic excellence to one student or split between equally deserving candidates.

Glossary

Academic year: defined by your school, up to a maximum of 12 months. An academic year may comprise multiple terms or semesters, including spring and summer session.

Allowable expenses: expenses used in the calculation of your funding amount.

Assessment Letter: information on the calculation of your assistance and the payment schedule.

Asset: an item or source of wealth with continuing financial benefit that can be liquidated (e.g. an investment).

Bursary: funding that does not have to be paid back.

Capitalization: this happens when you add unpaid accumulated interest to the principal of a loan. It increases the total principal outstanding.

Confirmation of Enrolment: confirms that you are enrolled in school full-time. Confirmation of Enrolment is done electronically between your school and the National Student Loans Service Centre.

Consolidation Letter: a letter is sent to you (the borrower) when you enter the repayment phase of your loan, indicating the terms of repayment. The first loan payment is due on the first day of the 7th month after classes end in your final term.

Default: when you are behind on your payments for nine or more months and collection activities are required. Defaulting on your loan will make you ineligible from receiving future student financial assistance or from applying for repayment assistance under the Repayment Assistance Plan.

Dependent student: a single student with no children who has been out of high school for less than four years or in the work force for less than two periods of 12 consecutive months (two years).

Designation: process by which schools obtain the necessary recognition that allows their students to be eligible for assistance.

Designated institution: schools where students are eligible to receive assistance.

Discretionary income: disposable income after taxes and living expenses.

Financial need: amount required to supplement your existing funds to meet your financial commitment.

Full-time student: enrolled in 60 percent of a full course load (or 40 percent for students with permanent disabilities) as determined by the school.

Grant: funding that does not have to be paid back.

Independent student: a single student with no children who has been out of high school for more than four years or in the work force for at least two periods of 12 consecutive months (two years).

Interest-free status: while you are in school full-time, the Government of Canada and the Government of Saskatchewan will pay the interest on your student loans.

Lifetime maximum: the maximum time frame you are eligible to receive money and to maintain your student loans in interest-free status, generally 340 weeks.

Moderate standard of living: amount determined by Statistics Canada that is required to maintain a moderate standard of living per family size.

National Student Loans Service Centre: the service provider responsible for the payment and collection of your student loan funds on behalf of the Government of Canada and the Government of Saskatchewan.

Non-Repayment (Grace) Period: the six-month period after you graduate or leave school during which you are not required to make loan payments. However, interest on your loan builds up during this period and you are responsible for paying this interest. You can choose to add it to your principal (capitalization), but if you do, you will not be able to claim the interest on your income tax return. Please note this is not the same as interest-free status.

Overpayment: amount of assistance you received for which you are not eligible.

Permanent disability: a functional limitation caused by a physical or mental impairment which restricts a person's ability to perform the daily activities necessary to participate fully in post-secondary studies or in the labour force, and is expected to remain with the person for the person's expected life.

Pre-study period: the four-month period immediately prior to program start date.

Resident: a person who has resided in the province for 12 consecutive months prior to the first day of their study period.

Scholarship: funding which is merit-based, and does not have to be paid back.

Study period: length of time that a student is enrolled at a designated institution throughout the school year. (September to April, for example).

Successful completion: passing a minimum of 60 percent of a full course load or 40 percent of a full course load for students with a permanent disability.

Withdrawal: dropping below the required course load for the study period/program for which you have received funding.
