Master's Level in Special Education

When a teacher has achieved a Master's Degree in Special Education from any university, current practice is to accept the degree as completion of Saskatchewan Education's Special Education Teacher Qualifications policy (1996).

Additional Qualifications Certificate

When a teacher is granted an Additional Qualifications Certificate from the Saskatchewan Ministry of Education for a Post-Degree Certificate in Education (e.g., but not limited to: Special Education, University of Saskatchewan, or a Certificate of Extended Studies in Inclusive Education, University of Regina), that teacher would also be accepted as a qualified Special Education Teacher and would not require their transcripts adjudicated by the Superintendent of Sector Support.

Note: The coursework listed within this catalogue is not exclusive as to what can be accepted towards Special Education Qualifications.

It represents only those courses that have been reviewed to date by the Special Education Personnel Qualifications Committee.

SPECIAL EDUCATION TEACHER QUALIFICATIONS

April, 2018

School divisions shall employ special education teachers and professional support staff who possess qualifications acceptable to the Minister.

Resource, Learning Assistance, and Special Education Class Teachers shall have a Saskatchewan Professional A Teaching Certificate and have successfully completed a minimum of eighteen (18) credit hours of specified courses in special education with courses from each of the following areas:

A. SPECIFIED COURSES IN SPECIAL EDUCATION	Minimum Credit Hours
Area 1: Speech and Language	3
Area 2: Individual Assessment of Students with Exceptional Needs	3
Area 3: Programming for Students with Exceptional Needs	3
B. APPROVED SPECIAL EDUCATION COURSES	Minimum Credit Hours
A minimum of nine (9) additional credit hours in special education. (Courses may be in Areas 1, 2, or 3 or other Approved Special Education Courses. )	9
	Total 18

Procedure for Assessment of Qualifications

1. The Superintendent of Sector Support adjudicates the qualifications of special education teaching personnel upon formal request of either the school division or the individual.
2. The formal request must include copies of the individual's official transcripts and Professional "A" Teaching Certificate.
3. When personnel have a Professional "A" Teaching Certificate and do not meet the above prescribed coursework, interim qualification is possible through the individual's school division.

For adjudication of transcripts or further clarification, please contact:

Ryerson University does not have a College or Faculty of Education. Students may graduate with a degree of Early Childhood Education, but

The Early Childhood Education Degree is not recognized as an "education" degree.

Check with Teacher Records in Regina for any individual presenting such a transcript. If the individual also has a one-year post-degree, she/he would then have credit for a B. Ed.
